

Marian Leavitt MSCCN Operations Specialist

Born into a Navy family in Millington, TN, was just the beginning of life as a military dependent for Marian. The youngest of three children, Marian grew up during the end of her father's active duty career. Before her 10th birthday she had already lived in Memphis (twice), California, and Rota, Spain.

Marian transitioned from a Navy "brat" to a Navy "spouse" after marrying her husband, Mark. They lead busy lives, balancing civilian careers, her husband's Navy career, and raising two active and adventurous children with social calendars of their own.

Marian has enjoyed a varied professional life that began after graduating from Virginia Tech with an English Degree. Marian joined the business world working with a residential building company for four years, making her way into a sales position in the single family home market. Continuing along the sales path, she joined a national harbor cruise company where she was the sole National Sales representative. Marian was ready for a change after numerous years in sales and moved into the harbor cruise company's Management Information System Department where she began training staff nationwide on the company's new reservation system and developing and writing the 200+ page training manual for their customized system. Prior to joining MSCCN, Marian had delved into the teaching world, working with low-bench mark readers in two different schools.
