

Career Battleplan 2010 - Jacksonville, FL

MSCCN Helps Spouses and Veterans With Their Job Search.....

MSCCN was pleased to host Career Battleplan 2010 at New Horizons Computer Learning Center in Jacksonville, FL. This interactive and informative all day event featured workshops, lunch, and one-on-one applicant guidance. The event was a great success and our applicants are ready to apply their new knowledge to their job search!

Targeting Your Resume for Maximum Impact

We kicked off the day with a resume workshop and focused on targeting your resume - highlighting skills and achievements most relevant to the position each time you apply for a job. Our attendees emailed us copies of their resumes, and this allowed us to share their resumes on the projector and offer them individualized critiques. We had multiple resume experts in attendance who all shared some wonderful suggestions. Our attendees agreed that seeing instead of just hearing how to target a resume made this workshop unique and especially helpful.

Launch Your VOWELS - Take Command of Your Career!

Published author Brad Raney presented an inspirational keynote speech about taking command of your job search. Finding a job isn't all about your resume. Brad highlighted that characteristics like attitude, integrity, and energy play a major role in how you come across to hiring managers. He shared advice on how to convey your passion and interest to ensure a successful interview!

Building Your Job Search Arsenal

New Horizons presented a computer class focused on tips to help with your job search. We learned how to navigate the new Office products, and they highlighted some great features to make it easier to format resumes. Everyone learned something to make them more productive in their job search!

The day was fun and full of great information. We were able to address a lot of questions specific to our attendees and to offer suggestions on how to improve their resumes. We received some wonderful feedback and are looking forward to our next event. Check our website at <http://msccn.org> for a complete listing of upcoming events.

We appreciate the support of New Horizons Computer Learning Center and hope that more organizations will sponsor future events to help our military families.

"Your Jacksonville Outreach Coordinator is phenomenal! I love her handouts and the way she organizes her seminars. She is an excellent resource and partner for me in helping the military families in the area. She has many great real life examples she uses which makes it seem more real of a connection for the spouses."
