

MacDill AFB Career Fair

April 29, 2011 – MacDill AFB, FL

MSCCN recently attended the MacDill AFB Career Fair presented by the Airman & Family Readiness Center on April 29, 2011. The career fair featured many companies with different opportunities including positions in IT, finance, hospitality and customer service, law enforcement, federal positions and more.

MSCCN hosted a table to share information about our services with transitioning service members, veterans, and military spouses in the surrounding communities. We highlighted our virtual training events and the work we do locally to connect applicants and recruiters. Attendance for the job fair was great, and we made many connections with candidates that were affiliated with the military. During our time with them, we gave a shortened version of our virtual training geared toward making the most of a job fair and provided them with tips to network with the participating companies. In addition, we had a number of job seekers stop by the table to pick up information for someone they knew could benefit from the services provided by MSCCN.

During the career fair, we met some great recruiters and school representatives. It was a great time to educate them on the services that MSCCN provides, such as job postings and the ability to search for candidates that qualify for positions that they might need to fill in a short time period.

We will be following up with the applicants that registered with us to assist them with their job search and work to connect them with recruiters that are hiring in the area. In addition, we will continue to build relationships with the recruiters that we met.

Candidates filled the room to find out about the employment opportunities that were available to them.
