

Portable Career Opportunities & Resources for Military Spouses
Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps
Henderson Hall, Arlington, VA– May 12th, 2010
Event Report

Attendee: Mikyong Warren

Spouses from the Washington, DC Metro area came to this workshop eager to learn more about portable careers. As a one of three speakers at this event, Mikyong was able to provide insight into portable careers by speaking about her own prior experience working from home. She spoke about the importance of networking and volunteering as a means of staying current in the ever-changing job market. Mikyong also explained the relationship between MSCCN and Family Support Centers. Lastly, Mikyong also shared her own initial discomfort with computer and technology and learning to love it with frequent use and confidence.

During the break, Mikyong had a chance to speak with Kelly Williams, former Marine Corpsman and current Employment Specialist with the Marine Corps at Henderson Hall. Kelly shared with Mikyong that he would like to provide more of these workshops throughout the Marine Corps and would be interested in partnering with MSCCN to do so.

Although the turnout at this event was disappointing (only two spouses attended), Mikyong was able to make a strong impression with the Marine Corps and future collaboration looks very favorable.
