

Service Features and Benefits

MSCCN is quick to respond to the needs of military families, and among the first to recognize and extend services to caregivers of war wounded. Caring for an injured military member is financially, geographically, and physically challenging. Extended care usually involves relocation and job loss. The financial upheaval increases stress and can hinder the healing process.

Natural Disasters are tragic, stressful, and require rapid relocation. During 2005, hurricanes Katrina and Rita prompted military family relocations and spousal job loss. MSCCN responded quickly to coordinate opportunities for relocated military spouses.
