

Military Spouse Corporate Career Network presents

Leveraging Opportunities & Vocations for Employment™ in the Military Community

November 13, 2018 The LOVE The Guard and Reserve Councils met in Washington DC at the Boeing Headquarters to discuss the strategy for rolling out the LOVE Program across the states and regions.

The meeting was hosted by Boeing at their prestigious headquarters in Crystal City, and attended by Mrs Sally Lengyel, honorary chair for the LOVE the Guard Program and Mrs. Julie Luckey, honorary chair for the LOVE The Reserves Program, and our co-founder Deb Kloeppel. Also in attendance were Sr Spouses from Illinois, Colorado, Washington DC, Kansas and Virginia. Corporate representatives from USO, USAA, Nestle and our partners from NGAUS and EANGUS were also in attendance to help tackle the employment issue impacting our military spouses and their families.

The meeting was the first strategic meeting for the newly formed LOVE Councils that will advocate and educate at state and local levels for better awareness of the employment and growth issues impacting our military spouses, dependents and Youth Challenge cadets.

The Mission of the LOVE Council is to bridge community gaps with our military components that address employment issues impacting our families. Through partnerships with corporate and civic organizations, the LOVE Council will heighten the goals of success for financial independence, job security and readiness with working partnerships/relationships that benefit our members and the communities they support.

The next meeting is scheduled for February 2019. - Danette Hayes
